Small business owners warier in January

By MAE ANDERSON

Small business owners felt more uncertain about the future in January, as they continue to deal with labor challenges and lingering inflation.

According to a monthly poll of small business owners from the National Federation of Independent Business, the uncertainty index in January rose 14 points to 100 – the third highest recorded reading, after two months of decline. The NFIB said small business owners are feeling less confident about investing in their business due to uncertain business conditions in the coming months.

The response mirrors overall consumer confidence, which plummeted in February, the biggest monthly decline in more than four years, with inflation seemingly stuck and a trade war under President Donald Trump seen by a growing number of Americans as inevitable.

In the NFIB poll, optimism fell by 2.3 points in January to 102.8, but remained high. Optimism surged after the presidential election, and the index still topped the 51-year average of 98 for the third month in a row.

“Overall, small business owners remain optimistic regarding future business conditions, but uncertainty is on the rise,” said NFIB Chief Economist Bill Dunkelberg. “Hiring challenges continue to frustrate Main Street owners as they struggle to find qualified workers to fill their many open positions. Meanwhile, fewer plan capital investments as they prepare for the months ahead.”

Eighteen percent of owners reported that inflation was their single most important problem in operating their business, down two points from December and matching labor quality as the top issue.

Labor remains a top headache. A seasonally adjusted 35% of all small

New Kansas programs for Alzheimer’s and Dementia Caregivers

The Kansas Department for Aging and Disability Services is launching two new initiatives to support Alzheimer’s and Dementia caregivers.

In Kansas, more than 55,000 individuals are living with Alzheimer’s disease or related dementia, and more than 89,000 individuals are providing unpaid care.

Families serve as the primary source of support for older adults and people with disabilities across the nation. According to the 2022 National Strategy to Support Family Caregivers report developed by the Recognize, Assist, Include, Support, and Engage Act Family Caregiving Advisory Council and the Advisory Council to Support Grandparents Raising Grandchildren, gaps in the availability of and access to respite care can add to the stress and burden faced by unpaid caregivers. Respite care often comes with high costs and limited availability, leaving caregivers responsible for most expenses.

Kansas has allocated funding for a state-funded respite program to address these challenges. The K-RAD program offers relief to unpaid caregivers of individuals with Alzheimer’s or related dementia by providing temporary care

Consumers spent a bit less last month

Ongoing tariff threats from Washington and potentially sweeping government job cuts have darkened consumers’ mood and may be weighing on an otherwise mostly healthy economy.

Data showed that consumers slashed their spending by the most since February 2021, even as their incomes rose. On a positive note, inflation cooled, but President Donald Trump’s threats to impose large import taxes on Canada, Mexico, and China – the United States’ top trading partners – will likely push prices higher, economists say. Some companies are already planning to raise prices in response.

Americans cut their spending by 0.2 percent in January from the previous month, the Commerce Department said, likely in part because of unseasonably cold weather. Yet the retreat may be hinting at more caution by consumers amid rising economic uncertainty.

“The roller coaster of news headlines emanating from Washington D.C. is likely going to push businesses to the sidelines for a time and even appear to be impacting consumers,” said Stephen Stanley, chief U.S. economist at Santander, in an email.

Inflation declined to 2.5 percent in January compared with a year earlier,

Social Security could cut 50% of workforce

By FATIMA HUSSEIN

The Social Security Administration is preparing to lay off at least 7,000 people from its workforce of 60,000, according to a person familiar with the agency’s plans who is not authorized to speak publicly. The workforce reduction, according to a second person who also spoke on the condition of anonymity, could be as high as 50%.

It’s unclear how the layoffs will directly impact the benefits of the 72.5 million Social Security beneficiaries, which include retirees and children who receive retirement and disability benefits. However, advocates and Democratic lawmakers warn that layoffs will reduce the agency’s ability to serve recipients in a timely manner.

down from 2.6 percent in December, the Commerce Department said. Excluding the volatile food and energy categories, core prices dropped to 2.6 percent, the lowest since June, from 2.9 percent.

Economists noted that inflation would likely keep cooling, but the progress could be upended by tariffs. Trump said he would impose 25 percent duties on imports from Canada and Mexico, though just 10 percent on oil from Canada. He also said he wanted to double the current tariff on imports from China to 20 percent.

Trump is also calling for widespread layoffs of federal workers, which could cause hundreds of thousands of job losses and potentially lift the unemployment rate.

Randy Carr, CEO of World Emblem, says the tariffs, if imposed, will force him to raise prices and cut jobs. World Emblem makes patches, labels and badges for companies, universities and law enforcement agencies.

The firm has factories in Georgia and California but it makes about 60 percent of its products in Mexico. Carr said if the 25 percent import taxes are imposed, he expects to raise prices by 5 percent to 10 percent. He also plans to cut “a handful” of jobs among the 500 workers his company has in the United States to help absorb the rest of the costs.

Carr said he would also cancel about $9 million in planned investments in artificial intelligence and online commerce.

“It’s so annoying,” he said. “Right now you have this volatility, and so you really can’t plan anything. You just got to wait until we get a final verdict from from the administration. It’s definitely not punishing Mexico, it’s punishing us.”

The inflation-fighters at the Federal Reserve said in January they planned to keep their key short-term interest rate on hold, at 4.3 percent, to slow borrowing and spending enough to lower inflation back to their 2 percent target. The Fed’s elevated rate has contributed to higher borrowing costs for mortgages, auto loans, and credit cards.

Inflation spiked in 2022 to its highest level in four decades, propelling President Donald Trump to the White House and leading the Fed to rapidly raise interest rates to tame prices. It has since fallen from a peak of 7.2 percent, and some economists expect it could fall closer to 2 percent in the coming months.

“The inflation data could be distorted higher at exactly the time when the Fed would otherwise be in a position to declare a win,” Stanley said.

One other bright spot in the report was that incomes jumped 0.9 percent in January from December, fueled in part by a large annual cost of living adjustment for Social Security beneficiaries.

Yet Americans spent less anyway, in particular on cars, where purchases fell sharply. The cutbacks may also reflect a need for many consumers to save after spending a bit during the Christmas shopping season. Credit card debt surged in December, economists noted.

A big concern right now is whether tariffs will push up inflation, or slow the economy, or – in a particularly toxic combination – both.

A report from the Federal Reserve’s Boston branch concluded that 25 percent tariffs on Canada and Mexico, along with Trump’s initial 10 import taxes on China, could lift core inflation by as much as 0.8 percentage points.

Many toy companies had expressed relief when Trump has announced a 10 percent increase in tariffs on products from China because they thought they could share the extra costs between themselves and the retailer. But with a 20 percent tariff, they say they have no choice but to raise prices for shoppers. Around 80 percent of toys sold in the U.S. are made in China, according to industry reports.

Curtis McGill, CFO of small toy maker Hey Buddy Hey Pal, called the move “a nightmare scenario.”

McGill had just confirmed a price for a toy with one major retailer, but then had to withdraw the price after he heard about the tariffs. For the year-end Christmas season, his toys will see a 10 percent price increase.

Worries about tariffs pushing prices higher have sent consumer confidence plunging, unwinding the modest gains that had occurred after the election. Americans are also expecting inflation to move higher in the coming months. That’s a risky trend because if consumers and businesses expect higher prices, they may act in ways to lift inflation, such as accelerating their purchases and boosting demand.

On a monthly basis, prices rose 0.3 percent in January from the previous month, matching December’s 0.3 percent increase. Core prices rose 0.3 percent, up from 0.2 percent in December. If sustained, January’s increases would keep inflation running above the Fed’s target. The Fed pays more attention to core prices because they provide a better read on future inflation.

services that replace the direct care given by the caregiver for short or intermittent periods.

Caregivers can apply for K-RAD funds to cover respite care costs.

Additionally, KDADS has introduced the Kansas Dementia Roadmap: A Guide for People Impacted by Dementia. This resource acknowledges that caring for someone with memory loss or dementia is a long and unpredictable journey.

Some say cuts to the workforce are, in effect, a cut in benefits.

The agency sent out a news release outlining plans for “significant workforce reductions,” employee reassignments from “non-mission critical positions to mission critical direct service positions,” and an offer of voluntary separation agreements. The agency said in its letter to workers that reassignments “may be involuntary and may require retraining for new workloads.”

The layoffs are part of the Trump administration’s intensified efforts to shrink the size of the federal workforce through the Department of Government Efficiency, run by President Donald Trump’s advisor Elon Musk.

A representative from the Social Security Administration did not respond to an Associated Press request for comment.

The people familiar with the agency’s plans say that SSA’s new acting commissioner Leland Dudek held a meeting business owners reported job openings they could not fill in January, unchanged from December. Of the 52% of owners hiring or trying to hire in January, 90% reported few or no qualified applicants for the positions they were trying to fill.

And fewer small businesses are planning capital investments to expand their business. Twenty percent plan capital outlays in the next six months, down seven percentage points from December.

OBITUARIES

Tracy Lynn Homan-Overmyer

Tracy Lynn Homan-Overmyer, 63, passed away February 21, 2025, at Rossville Healthcare and Rehab, surrounded by her loving friends and family.

Tracy was born April 18, 1961 in Topeka, KS. She was a longtime resident of her hometown St.

Marys, a place she cherished with all her heart. Tracy didn't know a stranger and made everyone she came across feel welcome. Her infectious laugh and humor was known by all as she always loved to have a good time. Tracy had a deep love for her family and enjoyed being a member of Immaculate Conception Church.

Tracy was a graduate of St. Marys High School, class of 1979, where she made lasting friendships and memories. A trademark of hers was cruising around town with her friends in her sky blue Pontiac Firebird playing the music of various 70s and 80s bands, including REO Speedwagon and the Pott County Pork and Bean Band. One of her fondest memories as a young adult was taking a trip to Canada to visit her dear friend Cathy Denton. She experienced a cultural immersion of encountering local dialects and leashed felines; stories that all who knew her well could retell.

Tracy's children certainly had a fun-loving, one-of-a-kind upbringing. She is credited for her sense of humor, love of being outside, and social nature that she passed down to both Heath and Jenna. She loved gardening and planting flowers around her yard. She spent many summers playing basketball, football, and baseball with her kids in the backyard, which would attract the entire neighborhood at times. Their home became the gathering place for Heath and Jenna's friends well into their young adult years.

Tracy battled many challenges in recent years, but she was proud of her family and friends, and loved them very much, and they certainly loved her. In May 2024, she became a grandmother for the first time. Nothing brought her more happiness than spending time with her grandson Jimmy and sharing in his laughter and joy. Tracy was happy to "hangout" and "shoot the breeze" with friends and strangers alike. Her family and friends were her greatest treasures, and her presence will be deeply missed by all who knew her.

She was preceded in death by her beloved father, Jack Homan. She is survived by her two children, Jenna (Jacob) Gentry and Heath Overmyer; her mother, Mary Homan; her brother, Rod (Julie) Homan; and her sister, Jackie (Mark) Cowan. She is also survived by many nieces and nephews, and her beloved grandson, Jimmy Gentry.

Her love, spirit, and memories will live on in the hearts of those she leaves behind. As Tracy would always say, "it's not goodbye, it's see you later."

In lieu of flowers, donations and memorial contributions may be made to the St. Marys Food Pantry.

The family greeted visitors at Piper Funeral Home from 5-7 PM on Thursday, February 27th with a rosary recited at 7:00 PM. A funeral mass was offered at 10:00 AM on Friday, February 28th at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church in St. Marys. Burial followed in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Ila Mae Bartels

Ila Mae Bartels, 86, left this earthly realm to be with the Lord on February 21, 2025, in Wamego, Kansas. Her life was a radiant testament to faith, service, and love.

Ila was born on October 4, 1938, in Chadron, Nebraska, to parents Waldo Kemery and Irene Luella. On June 24, 1956, Ila married Pastor Dean L. Bartels, and she served the Lord as a pastor's wife, sharing the Gospel in heartfelt ways. They traveled as an evangelist family for 20 years, spreading God's love and grace wherever they went.

Ila was a proud homemaker who cherished her role in nurturing those around her. She also shared her talents with the community, working as a baker at the Friendship House, Wamego, where she worked for many years. She found joy in sewing, painting scenic scenes, crafting, and cultivating her beautiful flower garden.

Ila was blessed with a vibrant family who carry on her legacy of faith and love. She is survived by her daughters Lavetta Pope of Arlington, Texas, Cathleen Stotts (Danny) of Wamego, and Christine Glaeser (John) of Briggs, Texas; sons Jim Bartels (Jeanette) of Pevely, Missouri, John Bartels (Dawn) of East Lynne, Missouri, and Richard Bartels of Riley, Kansas. In addition to her children, Ila was loved by her 44 grandchildren, 64 great-grandchildren, and 2 great-great-grandchildren. She is also survived by her sister-in-law, Joyce Neeland, and her brother-in-law, Raymond Scott.

Ila joins her parents, husband, and siblings, Wallace and Helen, in eternal peace with the Lord.

A funeral service to celebrate Ila's life was held on February 26, 2025, at 1:00 p.m. at Campanella & Stewart Funeral Home in Wamego. The family greeted friends before the service. Burial followed at Louisville Cemetery.

Memorial contributions are suggested to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Please make checks payable to the "St. Jude Children's Research Hospital," and those may be sent to Campanella & Stewart Funeral Home, P.O. Box 48, Wamego, KS, 66547.

Silver Lake City Council minutes

The Governing Body of the City of Silver Lake met in regular session at City Hall on February 17, 2025, at 5:30 PM with Mayor Jonah Bishop conducting the meeting and the following Councilmembers present: Joe Blubaugh, Brad Bryant, Jake Fisher, Michael Hamilton and Kenneth Wade (5) absent: (0). Also present was City Attorney Todd Luckman, Police Chief Doug Ashcraft, City Clerk Marie Beam and Assistant Clerk Sarah Glenn.

For public comment Mr. Wayne Kellner, representing the Silver Lake Lions Club was present to remind everyone about the Legislative Forum with Senator Titus and Representative McNorton to be held at the community center on March 1, 2025 at 10 AM.

Keenan Kruger representing the Silver Lake Education Foundation requested the use of City property next to the community center to host a street dance type fundraiser on June 15, 2025. Council will take the request into consideration and respond at a future Council meeting.

Local resident Pat Luthi asked for information on the overflowing dumpsters at the Silver Valley Apartments. Mayor Bishop let Mr. Luthi know the City is in the processes of having the nuisance abated in accordance with City Code.

Mayor Bishop responded to a complaint from the previous Council meeting by resident Ed Kohake. He stated that the Public Works department is taking steps to improve snow removal in the future, including fixing broken equipment and working with the school to help with trouble spots.

A motion was made by Councilmember Bryant to approve the minutes of the February 3, 2025 meeting as amended. The motion was seconded by Councilmember Blubaugh and carried.

Claim vouchers in the amount of $7,517.47 were submitted to Council for appropriation. A motion was made by Councilmember Bryant and seconded by Councilmember Fisher that said Appropriation Ordinance be accepted as read and passed by a roll call vote of Aye: Joe Blubaugh, Brad Bryant, Jake Fisher, Michael Hamilton and Kenneth Wade (5) Nay: (0). The Ordinance was declared passed and numbered 2627.

Mayor Bishop made a request to remove business item #2 Public Works spending request – generator from the agenda. Councilmember Bryant made the motion which was seconded by Councilmember Wade and passed with all ayes.

After research, Councilmember Blubaugh made a recommendation to reinvest a Certificate of Deposit with Stockgrowers State Bank for a 12-month term at 4.10% APY. After discussion Councilmember Blubaugh amended his recommendation to a 24-month term for 4.00% APY. Councilmember Fisher made the motion to accept Blubaugh’s amended recommendation. The motion was seconded by Councilmember Bryant and the motion passed with all ayes.

With no further business to come before Council, Councilmember Blubaugh made a motion to adjourn the meeting at 5:42 PM. Councilmember Hamilton seconded the motion, and with no further discussion, the meeting was adjourned. Marie Beam, City Clerk

IN THE KITCHEN

YUMMY PISTACHIO DESSERT

- 36 OREO Cookies, finely crushed (about 3 cups)
- 6 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
- 2 pkg. (3.4 oz. each) pistachio instant pudding
- 2 cups cold milk
- 1 tub (8 oz.) cool whip, thawed, divided
- 1/2 cup toffee bits (optional)

Mix cookie crumbs and butter until well blended. Press onto bottom of a 13x9-inch pan. Refrigerate until ready to use. Beat pudding mixes and milk in large bowl with a whisk for 2 min.; spread 1-1/2 cups onto bottom of crust. Stir half the COOL WHIP into remaining pudding; spread over pudding layer in pan. Cover with remaining cool whip and toffee bits.

Refrigerate four hours or until firm. - Submitted by: Bonnie Chockley

EASY CORNED BEEF STEW

- 1 can tomato soup
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 16-oz. bag frozen mixed

- vegetables
- 1 can corned beef
- 1 envelope dry French onion soup mix
- Salt and pepper to taste

In a Dutch oven, mix all ingredients (feel free to add any leftover vegetables you have on hand), and 2 soup cans-full of water. Bring mixture to a boil.

Reduce heat to low and simmer approximately 1 hour, stirring 2 or 3 times. - Submitted by: Bonnie Chockley

EASY COOKED CABBAGE

- 2 slices bacon, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- ½ to 1 head of cabbage, sliced
- 1 tsp. dried parsley flakes
- 3/4 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. dried basil
- 1/4 tsp. each of dried oregano, dried marjoram and black pepper
- Dash of red pepper

Cook bacon in large skillet over medium heat until crisp; remove bacon and reserve drippings in skillet. Crumble bacon and set it aside.

Cook chopped onion in drippings

Gardening when you love both dogs and plants

By JESSICA DAMIANO

If you’ve ever had a dog, you know they don’t exactly tiptoe through the tulips. I’m fortunate that none of mine ever had a penchant for digging holes, but my late pit bull, Maddie, used to run through my perennial beds like a weed whacker, leaving horizontal coneflowers and black-eyes Susans in her destructive path.

Fortunately, my little Havanese, Miguel, doesn’t pose as much of a threat to my plants, but there are other important elements to consider when planning a garden where dogs and plants can safely coexist.

The type of grass you select should be suited to your region and your sun exposure. In my sunny Northeastern front yard, that means starting with a Kentucky bluegrass seed blend, which holds up well against foot and paw traffic, and mixing in roughly 10 percent each of urine-resilient perennial ryegrass and shade-tolerant fine fescue.

For further protection, consider incorporating a trample- and urine-resistant groundcover into your grass-seed recipe. I’ve added clover, which also enriches the soil with safe, nourishing levels of nitrogen (free fertilizer!) and reduces or eliminates groundwater pollution from my property.

If you have a beagle-size dog or two, this will go a long way toward retaining your lawn’s integrity. But, to be honest, I don’t know of any grass that will hold up against a German shepherd or bull mastiff kicking it up on a daily basis. Still, starting with the most resilient grass species for your growing conditions will give you the best odds possible.

Typical landscaping designs often space plants far apart, leaving areas of mulch-covered soil between plants and shrubs. Dogs love to run obstacle courses on those bare paths, kicking up mulch and, invariably, straying into planting beds.

Instead, opt for a dense garden style that allows only enough space between plants for the expected mature size of each. By their third year, most of the gaps will be filled, eliminating the spaces and, along with them, the invitation to enter.

If you grow delicate plants or edibles, situate them in a raised bed or surround them with short fencing or another barrier to discourage entry.

Next, consider safety. Many common plants are toxic to dogs (and cats), so avoid planting them altogether, even if your pet hasn’t shown an interest in grazing. A one-time curiosity could spell disaster. Check with the ASPCA for a sortable list of plants (including weeds) that are toxic to cats, dogs and horses, and remove any that your pets could access.

Avoid using chemicals. If you must apply them, keep pets out of the garden until the products have dried or dissipated (read package labels carefully and observe warnings and cautionary statements).

If your dog is a digger, fill holes and lay sections of chicken wire over favorite digging spots, then cover them with a few inches of soil. I’ve never met a dog that wasn’t deterred by wire.

Diggers will continue to dig, however, so designate a section of the yard where they can do so with reckless abandon. Bury some toys and bones for them to find, and place balls and other toys in there too. After introducing dogs to the area, watch closely and bring them to the digging zone whenever you catch them in the act elsewhere.

Such a play area or dog run would be a beneficial garden addition even if digging hasn’t posed a problem, as it would reduce or eliminate plant trampling and lawn damage.

Social Security could cut 50% of workforce

with management and told them they had to produce a plan that eliminated half of the workforce at SSA headquarters in Washington and at least half of the workers in regional offices.

In addition, the termination of office leases for Social Security sites across the country are detailed on the DOGE website, which maintains a “Wall of Receipts,” which is a self-described “transparent account of DOGE’s findings and actions.” The site states that leases for dozens of Social Security sites across Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, Florida, Kentucky, North Carolina, and other states have been or will be ended.

Social Security is one of the nation’s largest and most popular social programs. A January poll from The Associated Press-NORC Center for Public Affairs Research found that two-thirds of U.S. adults think the country is spending too little on Social Security.

The program faces a looming bankruptcy date if it is not addressed by Congress. The May 2024 Social Security and Medicare trustees’ report states that Social Security’s trust funds – which cover old age and disability recipients – will be unable to pay full benefits beginning in 2035. Then, Social Security would only be able to pay 83% of benefits.

Like other agencies, DOGE has embedded into the Social Security Administration as part of Trump’s January executive order, which has drawn concerns from career officials.

In February, the Social Security Administration’s former acting commissioner Michelle King stepped down from her role at the agency after DOGE requested access to Social Security recipient information, according to two people familiar with the official’s departure who were not authorized to discuss the matter publicly.

Other news organizations, including The American Prospect and The Washington Post, have reported that half of the Social Security Administration’s workforce could be on the chopping block.
